The Industrial Economy: Crash Course US History #23

1. In what ways did the Civil War help US industrialization?
2. What were the geographic, demographic, and legal factors that contributed to the economic growth?
3. And the changes we're talking about here were massive: in 1880, for the first time, a majority of the workforce worked in jobs. By 1890, two-thirds of Americans worked for rather than or owning their own businesses, and by 1913, the United States produced of the world's total industrial output.
4. List at least three effects of the railroad.
5. In the mystery document, explain Henry Adam's chief concern.
6. What are the good and bad acts that industrialists did?
7. Contrast vertical and horizontal integration.
8. Describe two problems facing laborers.
10. What is Social Darwinism?

Growth, Cities, and Immigration: Crash Course US History #25

1. List two reasons why people moved to westward.
2. What factors contributed to population increase in the US in the late 1800s?
3. Contrast the "Old Immigrants" prior to 1890 with the "New Immigrants" after 1890.
4. What reasons explain the Chinese Exclusion Act AND how were Chinese Americans treated?
5. Describe the big picture with immigration to the U.S. over time.
8. What were the problems facing newly arrived immigrants AND what were their solutions?
9. What were government, business, and individual responses to the influx of immigrants?